Subject: Hoffmeister update

Hi Melanie,

I am forwarding my latest e-mail from Walter to you. As you can see, the contents of his parcel did not contain any copies of the documents he recently found in Altenau, however, copies of these latest findings are most likely on their way to me and I will make copies of these for you. Hopefully, you and I can get together in December and exchange copies of the documents we need to share with each other. If not, I can sent these newly found documents to you by snail mail. Walter did send me an updated chart and on the chart I noticed that Hanß (Hans) date of birth to be different from the first chart he sent me, so I enquired about the discrepancy. Walter responded, explaining the discrepancy. The e-mail I am forwarding you states Hanß correct date of birth. I must close for now. Have a great week and hope to hear from you soon.

Kathy

Hi Kathy,

we are happy, that the parcel reached you so fast and that you like the content of the parcel.

In the past we had decorated our large fir tree in the garden with a lot of electric lights. But due to the several strong stroms in the last winters the electric lights were often damaged and now we decorate only a very little fir tree in the garden.

The different dates according the birth date of Hanß Hoffmeister have the following background: In the register of deaths was the age of Hanß mentioned as "died with 58 years and 14 days". With these data I calculated his date of birth. While our last visit to Altenau we have found in the register of births the date of birth of 24.03.1630 for Hanß.

In former times these entries in the church records were made by word of mouth. It was usual that the relatives of the deceased could not make exact indications. It was also possible that the pastor made a mistake in writing down the data. The date of 24.03.1630 is the correct date of birth of Hanß.

In Altenau we had the possibility to copy the entries of the church records. Normally we are not allowed to handle these old church records by ourself and a agent of the church asks which data we are searching for and looks them up. It was a lucky chance for us that in Altenau we were able to search the church records by ourself.

I will send you some copies within the next days.

We hope, that your husbad is getting better each day and a lot of congratulations to your son.

Warmest greetings for your family and you

Walter

Subject: Munnerlyn and Hoffmeister ancestry

Hi Melanie,

I just read your post on the Munnerlyn website. I too am a descendent to Julia Ann Munnerlyn and Herman Henry Hoffmeister through their daughter, Ellinor. I have a couple of pictures also of Julia Ann, one which includes her Herman and children. Been meaning to put the family picture on the Munnerlyn web site, but just haven't got around to it. Isn't Francine the greatest! She was so instrumental in helping me on the Munnerlyn line, sharing with me loads of information , especially her research regarding, Loftus Redlee Munnerlyn.

About two years ago when researching the Hoffmeister line, I hit the jackpot when corresponding with a descendent of Herman's brother, Augustus. This correspondence led me to dig even deeper and through further research via internet, I found a distant Hoffmeister cousin in Germany who had the Hoffmeister line at that time back to the grandparents of Herman and Augustus. After I sent him what I knew regarding Herman and Augustus, he (Walter Hoffmeister) made a couple of trips to Altenau and found church records regarding our Hoffmeister line going back to the 1600's. Many of Herman's descendents have his birth year as 1833, but church records found in Altenau reveal he was born on August 26, 1832. I have copied and pasted my notes on Herman in case you are interested in the Hoffmeister line. Also included is a descendent tree of our earliest known Hoffmeister, "Hans". Of course, there are many, many more descendents than what I have in my data base. Would like to have your husband's line so I can include this information into my files. I also have pictures of the church Herman was baptized in, and copies of the original church documents which includes Herman's and Augustus' baptismal records that Walter was so generous in sharing with me. I don't know where you live, but I live near Tyler, Texas. If you live anywhere around the AR-LA-TX area, perhaps we can get together sometime. I will share with you whatever you may be interested in regarding the Hoffmeister line.

It's been a very busy 4th of July weekend, and I must close for now and start getting things back in order around the house. If you have any questions regarding Herman, please feel free to ask and I will do my best to answer these.

Your Texas cousin,

Kathy Cagle Baker
Holly Lake Ranch, TX

Notes on Herman Henry Hoffmeister

Born in the small village of Altenau, located in Germany's Harz Mountains, Herman was the youngest son of Johann Heinrich Hoffmeister and Johanne Henriette Luise Haeger. According to his birth/baptismal record Herman was christened Heinrich Wilhelm Hermann Hoffmeister on August 26, 1832 in the Evang.-Luth. church in Altenau, a small village in the Providence of Hanover. An artist sketch of Altenau, as it appeared in 1654, shows the church located in the middle of the village between the settlement of the miners and the hut workers.

From tidbits of information collected from various sources, it is speculated that Herman was probably about 16 years old when he, his older brother, Augustus, and perhaps a third Hoffmeister relative, decided to leave their home land and sail to America. Obtaining records of their departure from Germany to America has been unsuccessful. Information received from Lorene Easley, nee Hoffmeister, of Fouke, Arkansas, states that she was told that Herman and his brother and a third person were all stow-a-ways, and after being caught by the ship's authorities were put to work as bootblacks. Lorene further states that when the ship docked at the Port of New Orleans, the three Hoffmeisters jumped ship. It was probably at this time the young Hoffmeister men became separated from each other, and perhaps going in different directions. It is certain that Augustus traveled north to St. Louis, Missouri where marriage records reveal his marriage to Johanna Sophie Bertha Gartner on November 21, 1852. "Bertha" was also a native of Hanover. By 1860 Augustus had settled in Ft. Madison, Iowa. The whereabouts of Herman during the 1850's is not certain, however, he was in New Orleans at the onset of the American Civil War, and in all probability had remained in the New Orleans area after his arrival from Germany. Information regarding the third Hoffmeister is inconclusive. One speculation is that the third person was Herman's and Augustus' father. It is known that Johann "Henry" came to America and according to the 1860 census was living with Augustus in Ft. Madison, Iowa. In this census his name was listed as "Henry". Another speculation is that the third person could have been a cousin or other relative. Johann may have sailed to America a few years later in search for his sons or perhaps Augustus made arrangements for Johann to join him in Ft. Madison. It is very little chance that the third person was another brother since there appears to be no birth/baptismal record of a third child born to Johann and his wife, Johanne in the Evang.-Luth. church records in Altenau. It is not known what happened to Augustus' and Herman's mother, Johanne. Perhaps she died in Altenau, or perhaps she became ill aboard ship and died. On-going research regarding what became of Johanne is being made by Ricardo Suarez-Gartner, a Hoffmeister/Gartner researcher, of Ocean Side, California, and Walter Hoffmeister of Rastade.

On April 27, 1861, Herman entered the Confederate Army in New Orleans. According to his muster roles he served under the commands of Captains' J. A. Mouton, Whitfield, Moore, and Douglas West. He had been in the Confederacy less than a year when he was promoted to Sergeant on March 1, 1862. The following month he would be a participant in one of the bloodiest battles ever fought on American soil, "The Battle of Shiloh". As this battle raged with intense fury, Herman was among the thousands wounded, losing three fingers from his right hand. Due to his wound, Herman was officially given a disability discharge a month later at Corinth. Information on his discharge record reveal Herman's occupation as "steamboatman". According to oral history received from Virginia Shelby of Texarkana, Texas, Herman was captured shortly after being given his discharge papers, and was held prisoner in a Union prison camp, not being released until the end of the war. However, between the time of his discharge and being taken prisoner, it is speculated he received another wound since his wife's Widow's Pension papers state's his death was due to a wound to a lung received at the Battle of Shiloh. Trying to piece what tidbits of information regarding Herman's wound to the lung, it is likely this wound occurred near or at Corinth, where the Confederate Army had receded to after Shiloh, since Herman's discharge papers do not mention this wound. It seems likely that the lung wound occurred the day, and perhaps minuets prior to Herman being taken prisoner. From a conversation with Lorene Easley in late March and again in early May of 2001, she stated that Augustus and Herman were reunited sometime during the Civil War after years of not knowing the whereabouts of the other. It is very interesting that Civil War records regarding Augustus' service in the Union reveal Augustus was also at the Battle of Shiloh. Could it be that it was on this famous battle ground that the two brothers were reunited or perhaps they were reunited at nearby Corinth, where skirmishes between the two armies were still taking place in the aftermath of Shiloh. Could Augustus have treated his brother's wound to the lung after being taken prisoner, possibly saving his life? If so, did Augustus see to it that Herman was cared for during the remainder of the war? Considering the nature of Herman's wounds and the conditions of Civil War prison camps, it would surely seem that Herman most likely would not have survived unless he had extra attention given to him. If, in fact, Augustus did assist in Herman's care, could Augustus have had connections with an outside source to continue providing for Herman's recovery and safety, perhaps even putting his self at risk with his Union superiors?

Eight years after the Civil War ended, at the age of 40, Herman married Julia Anne Munnerlyn, of Mira, Louisiana. He had been introduced to Julia Anne by one of her brothers who had befriended Herman sometime during the Civil War.

On November 5, 1878 Herman was elected Justice of the Peace for Caddo Parish, Louisiana, taking office on January 25, 1879. Legal documents show that he was still serving in this capacity in 1891.

Subject: Hoffmeister family

Hi Melanie,

Preston is back home now and doing much better. Since he was diagnosed with Myasthenia Gravis last March it has been very difficult for either one of us to lead a normal life, however, things are looking brighter for the future. I have had to slow down on my e-mail correspondences as well as my research as I have to now take care of various chores that Preston use to do such as cleaning gutters, the driveway, and other numerous jobs around the house. He now has a new doctor (I requested his original doctor be removed as she was treating his condition to lightly considering the symptoms he was having and the side effects from the medications she had prescribed). We are very comfortable with his new doctor and feel that in time she will be able to help him get back to where he will lead a near to normal life. He will have to go in to UT Health Center in Tyler to see his doctor once a week for a month or so and possibly will be receiving IVIG treatments during these visits. He had five of these treatments (each lasting for about six hours a day for five days) while he was in ICU and improved greatly before being moved into a private room for two days. On Sunday, July 6th, I was in the middle of responding to your latest e-mail when he went into a Myasthinic Crisis situation. Had to abort the e-mail and summoned a neighbor who is a doctor to come over as Preston would not let me call 911. After our neighbor and his wife arrived, he took Preston's vital signs and said there was no other option but to call 911. After arriving at the hospital his condition deteriorated quickly and the respirator had to be inserted without the aide of an Anesthesiologist as he was fading fast. For me, I did not get any sleep from Sunday morning until midnight Monday, and then it was only a few hours for the next four nights. I was somewhat of a basket case, but under the circumstances and going through this without other family members around until Monday afternoon, I think I handled things well.

Thank you for the pictures you sent. I do have a copy of the one you sent of Herman and also the one of Julia Anne. The one of Herman is from an artist sketch. I do not know the story behind it, but suspect he had it done in or around the New Orleans area before the civil war. I have attached the picture of the Herman Hoffmeister family. Julia Anne is positioned beside him (Striped dress). Elinor, my great grandmother is standing in front of Herman. Don't you think Julia Anne was a beautiful woman in her younger years?

There is one document that I have been trying to procure on Herman that I know exist. It is his naturalization papers and this document is somewhere in the Caddo Parish courthouse. Last year, when visiting the courthouse, I found that this document among many others, were moved to a basement or warehouse for storage while a section of the courthouse was being remodeled. It has been a while since I checked with the County Clerk of Court, John Basco, to see if the papers are back in their respectful place. I made several calls to him over the course of about six months, and finally just gave up. I will try and stop there the next time I go to Monroe to see if the naturalization papers are back on file. If you wish to check on this document, the number to call is (318) 226-6780. Ask for John Basco (the other clerks didn't have a clue regarding naturalization papers from that era). One sent me on a wild goose chase to the Federal Courthouse several blocks away. Finally, another clerk referred me to Mr. Basco and he did everything he could to help me. He found Herman's name was in the index of naturalizations, and would have known to where to retrieve the document if it hadn't been that these papers were in storage. Herman was declared a citizen on April 7, 1868.

I think it is a great idea to plan a Hoffmeister reunion. Now that we have an abundance of information on the ancestors of Herman, I think it would be great to share this information with others who have for years been looking for this information. I almost feel guilty about being the one to break through on this line, as I know there are been many others out there who have been at it longer than I have and hitting brick walls trying to find out about Herman's ancestry. I just happen to be what my husband calls "an Internet Weenie", and for some time searched diligently for anything that might connect Herman with other Hoffmeister researches via the Internet. After many attempts, I finally found the connection I needed. Fortunately, I knew a little about Herman's brother, Augustus, and it was from a posting on The Hoffmeister Surname Message Board through the rootsweb website that I became acquainted with Ricardo Suarea-Gartner of Oceanside, California who is connected to Herman's brother. One would have thought I had won the lottery. I was so overjoyed and over whelmed that I finally found someone out there that had the information I needed. Among the many things Ricardo sent me was a picture of Augustus, who was a surgeon in the Union Army. I have so many other documents and data on the Hoffmeister family thanks to Ricardo and my German correspondence, Walter Hoffmeister, and would love to try and get together with you sometime in the near future and share this treasure of information with you. It is too much to share over the Internet, but until we meet I will try and send you some of this information via e-mail. I just think you would prefer to see what I have and make copies which would probably lend better quality than what I would send via e-mail.

For now, I do not won't to get too far from home, but I think I could meet you somewhere halfway sometime within the next month or two. Perhaps around Henderson or Nacogdoches would be okay. I do not know these areas very well, but I'm pretty good about finding my way around places as long as it's not a big city. Of course you are more than welcome to come for an overnight stay at our place. I have a very nice guest room and I think you would enjoy this part of east Texas. I have a good set up for my genealogy research and we could make copies of everything right here and have all the time we need to do this.

Now, getting back now to the possibility of having a family reunion. That would be something you and I could talk over and start plans for whenever we get together. I think it would be good to have a reunion sometime in the Fall or Spring around the area where Herman and Julia Anne lived. The Fall foliage is so beautiful in and around that area and the dogwoods through there are beautiful in the Springtime. It may be a little late to plan for a Fall reunion, but I'm willing to go along with a Fall one if you are game for it. If we plan a Spring reunion, I think Palm Sunday weekend would be a good time. What do you think? One of Herman's granddaughter's, Lorene Easly, lives in Fouke, AR near the AR/LA state line and she might be able to tell us who to contact in order to reserve a place in that area for a reunion. Another contact would be Virginia Shelby of Texarkana, TX, my cousin, once removed. Of course, Francine could also tell us who to get in contact with. A visit to the Munnerlyn Cemetery would be a must at some point during the reunion. I know most reunions usually take place around Memorial weekend or during the summer months, and although I am not totally against having one during these times, I would think it would be somewhat hard on those, especially the elderly, who cannot tolerate the heat. Of course, I realize having one in the Fall or Spring may present a problem with those who have children in school and have more than a day's distance to drive. Hopefully, we can work something out that will satisfy everyone who would be interested in attending. I look forward to discussing these matters with you in the near future. I need to close for now. I welcome any suggestions you might have.

Your cousin by marriage,

Kathy

P.S. Here is a link you will want to add to your favorites: http://www.rootsweb.com/~ialee/cems/hatowa.htm It contains several cemeteries in the Lee County, Iowa area. Among these is the Hoffmeister Cemetery. It is this cemetery that Herman's brother, Augustus and their father, Johann Heinrich Hoffmeister are buried. Wouldn't be grand to one day visit that cemetery. It is a shame that it is now one of those many cemeteries throughout our country that have fallen victim to nature's growth of weeds and has been neglected. It was built by Augustus and is the city's smallest cemetery.

Hi Melanie,

I have attached an outline picture of the Hoffmeister family. I'm pretty sure I have all the names in the right circles according to the Hoffmeister family picture. I am so glad that you have Herman's naturalization papers. I will get a copy from you whenever we get together. Yes, I do have Julia Anne's civil war pension application, but do not have Herman's application for his homestead. My husband is doing better, but I think I probably won't be able to let you know any definite date for another couple of weeks. I am hoping we can get together by September. It would not be any problem whatsoever for us for you to come for an overnight visit. Would a Sunday night be alright with you? If not, let me know and I will try to work it out on this end to what day would be best for you to come according to your schedule. For now Preston will be having to go once a week to the doctor. His first visit will be this Tuesday, and if he receives the IVIG treatments for the next two or three months it will be an all day procedure with each appointment. For now, I don't know if each visit will be on Tuesdays or if the doctor will change up the scheldule or what. The way we understood when he was released from the hospital, he will be receiving them once a week for about a month, and then once a month for another month or two. It is just according to how well he progesses to how many treatments he will be receiving. I know when he gets to feeling better, he will want to start going over to Dallas each week to stay with our son and family for a night or two. (This will probably be on Wednesdays and Thursdays or Thursdays and Fridays). That means I will go also and will end up baby sitting our 18 month old granddaughter while we are there. Actually, it is our granddaughter that he really wants to see, and I love getting to baby-sit and spend some quality time with her. She is our only grandchild and is she ever spoiled rotten. Like you, I want to instill in my grandchild (and any future grandchildren) a passion for her family history. Recently, I have found quite a bit of information on my daughter-in-law's mother's ancestors, so my genealogy research is expanding now beyond that of mine and my husband's ancestral lines.

I can hardly wait to meet you. It is going to be great to start planning a Hoffmeister reunion. What do you think of making our own invitations and have the Herman Hoffmeister family picture on the front of the invitation? I will try and work on a booklet or two for the reunion, but before I do that I need as much information as I can get regarding the names of Herman's and Julia's descendents. Most of what I have entered into my FTW files concerns my direct line to Herman and Julia. Like you, I thoroughly enjoy the research, but am not very discipline when it comes to entering all the names and other data, especially when it comes down to entering indirect lines, their spouses, children and who their children married, etc,etc. etc. I think it would be nice if I can get a booklet done where everyone attending the reunion can look through and gather information, and have another one perhaps for a door prize. There are so many ideas running through my mind of things we can do at the reunion, and I'm sure your mind is full of ideas too. We will have to discuss all this when we get together. I personally, have never put a reunion together, and by no means am I much of a spokesperson for any type of gathering. I have been to a few reunions in the last few years, and brought with me my research regarding that particular branch and it is always a hit with most everyone. I must get in touch with Virginia Shelby in Texarkana. She will be thrilled to hear we are planning a reunion. Do you know her? She, like myself is a descendent of Herman and Julia Anne's through Eleanor and her husband, Louis Sercy Adams, and I'm sure she can give me names and addresses for our mailing list.

Well, it's already past 10:00, so I best close for now. It's been a busy Sunday with company for most part of the day and I'm tuckered out. Look forward to hearing from you soon.

Kathy

P.S. I have a web site set up featuring my graddaughter, Emma Gail Baker. If you have time, take a look at it the site. Think you will enjoy the pictures. The link is:

Hi Melanie,

Sorry for taking a few days to get back with you. I've just been busy running here and there and getting ready for the weekend. Our daughter-in-law and granddaughter will be here tomorrow and stay overnight, and on Saturday some old friends from Louisiana will be dropping by on their way home from Wichita Falls. On Tuesday I took Preston into see the doctor. He did not start on the IVIG treatments this week, but possibly will begin treatments next week , now that we know that our insurance provider will cover most of the cost. Each treatment cost $6,000, so needless to say, we are relieved that we will only have to pay our hospital deductible. As best we can tell, he will probably will be receiving the treatments at home once a week for a month, but it will appear that he is a patient in the hospital as it would be cheaper for the insurance company to cover it this way rather than admitting him as a patient at UT. Hopefully, his condition will be much better after the series of treatments. Another treatment he faces as soon as the doctor feels he is strong enough will be the removal of the Thymus Gland. Although he does not have a tumor, this surgery is usually performed on most patients with Myasthenia Gravis with or without a tumor. For some unexplained reason about 80% of Myasthenia patients improve greatly within about six months after the Thymus Gland is removed, with some going into remission. Hopefully, Preston will be one of those who go into remission.

I have copied and pasted Herman's birth record. Of course it is in German. I have several other church records and will try and e-mail you another one next week sometime.

Thanks for the photo of you, your son, and Jake. Jake is a handsome little boy and I know the joy you feel of being a grandmother. I need to close for now and tie up a few loose ends around here before going to bed. Take care and look forward to hearing from you again soon.

Subject: e-mail from Walter Hoffmeister

Hi Ricardo,

Last night I received an e-mail from Walter with information adding another generation to our Hoffmeister tree. Walter and his wife recently visited the church offices in Altenau and Clausthal-Zellerfeld, and in Altenau discovered a church record stating Lucaß (my guess would be that the English translation would be "Lucas", therefore, I will go by what I beleive to be the English translation) was the father of Hans. Walter speculates the date of birth to be about 1585, calculating his speculation on the date of birth of Lucas' first daughter. He did not mention the name of this daughter nor how many other siblings Hans may have had. Through his search, Walter could not find any records of Lucas' death nor did he find a marriage document, therefore we do not know who the mother of Hans was. Walter further stated he searched for data (date of death) of Johanne Henriette Haeger, but did not find anything, so the search continues regarding to when and where and how she died. Hopefully, one day one of us will find this little piece of our Hoffmeister puzzle. It just seems to me if she had died in the Altenau area, there would have been a record of her death among the church records. Regardless that Walter did not succeed in finding some of the data he was searching for, I am very pleased that we now have the name of Hans' father. This was a pleasant surprise and I wanted to pass it on to you.

Walter is sending me a packet that will include the information of his new finding. It will probably take about 14 days to get here. I'm sure this packet will include a copy of the record he found on Lucas. I will forward a copy your way along with any other information he shares with me. I did respond to his e-mail thanking him for sharing his latest finding, however forgot to inquire the name of Lucas' daughter, and if there were other children besides Hans and his sister. I will wait and see what all he has included in his packet, and then get back with him on any questions I might have regarding Hans' siblings, etc.

Ricardo, you will notice I have also sent a copy of this e-mail to another Hoffmeister researcher, Melanie Nolan. Her mother-in-law, was a Hoffmeister and the daughter of Herman and Julia Anne's son, Isaac Benjamin Hoffmeister. I had the pleasure to meet with Melanie a couple of months ago in Dallas when she was in Dallas (she lives in the Houston area) babysitting her grandson and I was in Dallas babysitting Emma. We are planning another meeting hopefully sometime in December, at which time she will provide me with a record of Herman's naturalization records. This will keep me from having to make any more calls to the county (Parish) clerks office) or stops at the courthouse in Shreveport. It seems once these old documents are moved into a place for "temporary" storage, it takes forever to get them back into their proper places.

Must close for now.

Your Texas Cousin,

Kathy

P.S. Ricardo, I hope and pray that you and your family were not effected by the fires in the San Diego area. The scenes on the news were unbelievable and sad. I know this disaster is an unbearable nightmare for those who lost family members and for those who lost their homes.

Subject: Hoffmeister update

Hi Melanie,

I am forwarding my latest e-mail from Walter to you. As you can see, the contents of his parcel did not contain any copies of the documents he recently found in Altenau, however, copies of these latest findings are most likely on their way to me and I will make copies of these for you. Hopefully, you and I can get together in December and exchange copies of the documents we need to share with each other. If not, I can sent these newly found documents to you by snail mail. Walter did send me an updated chart and on the chart I noticed that Hanß (Hans) date of birth to be different from the first chart he sent me, so I enquired about the discrepancy. Walter responded, explaining the discrepancy. The e-mail I am forwarding you states Hanß correct date of birth. I must close for now. Have a great week and hope to hear from you soon.

Hi Kathy,

we are happy, that the parcel reached you so fast and that you like the content of the parcel.

In the past we had decorated our large fir tree in the garden with a lot of electric lights. But due to the several strong stroms in the last winters the electric lights were often damaged and now we decorate only a very little fir tree in the garden.

The different dates according the birth date of Hanß Hoffmeister have the following background: In the register of deaths was the age of Hanß mentioned as "died with 58 years and 14 days". With these data I calculated his date of birth. While our last visit to Altenau we have found in the register of births the date of birth of 24.03.1630 for Hanß.

In former times these entries in the church records were made by word of mouth. It was usual that the relatives of the deceased could not make exact indications. It was also possible that the pastor made a mistake in writing down the data. The date of 24.03.1630 is the correct date of birth of Hanß.

In Altenau we had the possibility to copy the entries of the church records. Normally we are not allowed to handle these old church records by ourself and a agent of the church asks which data we are searching for and looks them up. It was a lucky chance for us that in Altenau we were able to search the church records by ourself.

I will send you some copies within the next days.

We hope, that your husbad is getting better each day and a lot of congratulations to your son.

Warmest greetings for your family and you

Walter

Subject: Church in Altenau

Melanie,

Hope you had a good weekend. Thought you might enjoy the pictures of the church Herman Hoffmeister and his brother and other members of the Hoffmeister family were members of and baptized in. I copied these from postcards that Walter sent me after one of his trips to Altenau. I am in awe when looking at the alter, knowing this was likely the spot Herman was brought to on his baptismal day back in 1832. Isn't the alter's art work beautiful! Enjoy and hope to hear from you soon.

INTRODUCTION

The Louisiana State Land Office is one of the finest and most complete state land offices in the South. The U. S. Tract Books covering Louisiana lands are only a portion of their holdings. Research on any individual or tract of land could very well involve other documents and materials in this office. A brief history of how the land office developed may help you determine just which records you may need.

In 1803, the United States purchased some 544 million acres of land from France for fifteen million dollars. Thirteen states, partially or wholly, were formed from this vast uncharted land known as "The Louisiana Purchase". Reaching from the Gulf Coast to the Canadian border, it was inhabited by several Indian tribes, some friendly - some hostile, by white settlers who held French, Spanish or British land grants, and by white settlers who had moved onto the land without benefit of grants. Many of them spoke no English, and some remained fiercely loyal to the country of their origin. All these were problems associated with the Mississippi Territory which had beset Congress for the past eight years and this experience proved to be of great value in dealing with this new land. (See page viii and ix)

By Congressional Act in March 1804, the land was divided into two territories. The area north of the 33rd degree latitude was called Louisiana Territory and all land south of this line was called the Territory of Orleans.

This act empowered the President to appoint a Governor and thirteen men to serve as Legislative Council for the Territory of Orleans. The Council divided the Territory into twelve counties: Acadia, Attakapas, Concordia, German Coast, Iberville, Lafourche, Natchitoches, Opelousas, Orleans, Ouchita, Pointe Coupee and Rapides. In 1807, the Territory of Orleans was re-divided into nineteen counties or parishes. The term "county" was gradually dropped and by 1845 was discontinued altogether so that the State of Louisiana uses only the designation of "parish".

By act of Congress in 1805, the President was authorized to appoint district land registers and a Board of Commissioners to handle all private land claims - to receive, arrange, classify and make record of all papers and documents pertaining to each claim. Residents holding a French, Spanish or British land grant were required to appear before the Board of Commissioners with witnesses, affadavits and other evidence to prove their grant was valid. Decisions of the Board were recorded by the registers and reports were sent to Washington, D. C. (See page x and xi)

District Land Offices were opened in New Orleans and Opelousas. Later land districts were established in Natchitoches, Ouchita and Greensburg. These same Land Districts are used today to identify lands within the State of Louisiana. (See page xii)

Surveyors were sent into the Territory of Orleans and by 1807 had established a base line and pricipal meridian. The base line, running east and west, was an extension of the boundary line between Mississippi and Spanish West Florida. The principal meridian ran north and south in the approximate center of the Territory. Using the system of townships and ranges to survey the land, monuments were set every six miles along the base line and principal meridian to serve as main points for later surveys to lay out squares six miles wide and six miles long, re-divided into one mile square sections of 640 acres each. (See page xiii)

Waterfront property along navigable lakes, rivers and streams was especially valuable since these waterways served as public transportation routes. Therefore, the surveyors laid out sections that were less than 640 acres and more or less triangle or wedge shaped, with the narrow side along the water front. The usual size of waterfront property was from six to twelve arpents wide and forty arpents deep. Plats of some townships with several navigable streams have 100 or more sections instead of the usual thirty-six. (See page xiv)

All approved private grants within a township were designated on the township plat before surveying and plotting the rest of the township as vacant lands. Lands granted to Indians residing in the Territory of Orleans were also shown on the township plats. (See page xv)

In 1812, the Territory of Orleans with the addition of the Florida Parishes was admitted to the Union as the State of Louisiana with twenty-five parishes or counties, 76,556 citizens, 27,785,000 acres of land and 3,269,000 acres of navigable lakes, rivers and streams.

At this time, the State of Louisiana owned only the beds or bottoms of navigable waterways, but not one single acre of land. Title to all land in the Territory of Orleans had to be secured from the federal government by approved land grants or by direct purchase as provided by Congressional acts.

The Act of 1806 provided that the 16th section of each township be set aside for schools. If the 16th section did not consist of 640 acres due to private land claim or a navigable body of water, then some other section of 640 acres was substituted for the usual 16th section. In 1827, the Seminary of Learning Act granted Louisiana the right to select two entire townships of land for use in establishing seminaries of learning under direction of the State Legislature. In 1841, Congress granted some 500,000 acres of land to the State of Louisiana to be sold for not less than $1.25 per acre, with proceeds used to build roads, dig canals and thus encourage more settlers to move into the state. The selection and sale of these lands were under direction of the State Legislature.

In March 1844, the Louisiana State Land Office was created with the governor authorized to appoint a Register of State Lands. Swamp Land Grant Acts of 1849 and 1850 authorized the State to select and acquire title to any vacant lands that were swampy in character. As a result, the State of Louisiana acquired title to some ten million acres of swamp land, much of which was sold to individuals, with some wet lands going to levee boards or other state agencies.

The U. S. Military Bounty Land Act of 1847 granted 160 acres of vacant public land wherever desired for one year's service in the Mexican War to encourage men to enlist for duty in that war. In 1850 and 1851, Congress allowed veterans of the old Indian wars and War of 1812, between 1783-1835, to select up to 160 acres of vacant federal land anywhere they desired and to obtain title by direct Military Bounty grant or by purchase with Military Warrant scrip. Veterans who did not wish to move into some new land frequently sold their scrip to non-veterans. Additional bounty land was granted to veterans of the Revolutionary War. Later, widows of these veterans were granted up to 160 acres of vacant federal land of their own choosing and many of them applied for and received this bounty land. The records of these bounty land transactions are found in the U. S. Tract Books.

Louisiana's bounty land acts provided that Confederate veterans or their widows could select up to 160 acres of vacant State owned land. The records of these State bounty land grants will be found in the Louisiana State Tract books.

In 1862, a Congressional Act allowed any person who was head of a family or 21 years of age to homestead up to 160 acres of vacant federal land. Louisiana state laws also allowed Louisiana citizens to homestead up to 160 acres of vacant State owned land. However, in 1962, all homesteading of land in Louisiana was stopped due to a shortage of vacant land in the State.

Federal surveyors were appointed for the Territory of Orleans in 1805. In 1831, the U. S. Surveyor General opened an office in Donaldsonville to serve as headquarters for all local surveyors. At the end of the War Between the States, this office was moved to New Orleans and closed in 1910. All survey notes and plats on file in the Surveyor General's Office were given to the Louisiana State Land Office. The Federal District Land Registers and Offices, also created in 1805, were later consolidated into one office which closed in 1927, with all their records being given to the Louisiana State Land Office.

These Surveyors records and U. S. Tract Books cover every acre of land in the State of Louisiana. The U. S. Tract Books show first transfer of title from the U. S. Government to the State of Louisiana or private ownership. Any subsequent transfer of title of State owned lands will be found in the Louisiana State Tract Books. Sale of land by private owners will be found in the courthouse where the land is located.

This index covers only entries in the U. S . Tract Books for Northwestern Louisiana Land District (Old Natchitoches District). This district includes the following parishes: All of Bossier, Caddo, DeSoto, Natchitoches, Red River, Sabine and Webster; most of Bienville and Claiborne; northern two-thirds of Vernon; and the western portion of Rapides and Winn. Records in the Tract Books are by township, range, section, portion of section, by whom acquired, price paid, date of transaction and certificate number, extending in a straight line across two facing pages in the books. Once title to U. S. Land was transferred to the State or to an individual for any reason, the U. S. Tract Book Records were closed on that particular piece of land. (See page xvi)

The Federal Government did not give bounty land to Confederate veterans or their widows based on service in the Confederate Army or Navy. No record of these bounty land grants will be found in the U. S. Tract Books. For Confederate Bounty Land records see the Louisiana State Tract Books.

This index was compiled from very old handwritten records. There may be some mis-interpretation in reading the names, and there may have been two or more men with the same name. In spite of utmost care, we find a few names are not in strict alphabetical order. We call your attention to these possible errors so that you will be aware that they may exist in a few places.

The map showing townships covered by each U. S. Tract Book may help you decide just which records you need, especially if you know where your ancestor lived or which township or section records will be most helpful. (See page xvii)

The Louisiana State Land Office can furnish you with a photo copy of any page from the U. S. Tract Books or the Louisiana State Tract Books for $6.00 per page (as of March 1980). Be sure to specify Book and Page Number and if U. S. Tract Book or Louisiana State Tract Book.

Excess Receipt No. 2007.

NOTE.—It is required of the homestead settler that he shall reside upon and cultivate the land embraced in his homestead entry for a period of five years from the time of filing the affidavit, being also the date of entry. An abandonment of the land for more than six months works a forfeiture of the claim. Further, within two years from the expiration of the said five years he must file proof of his actual settlement and cultivation, failing to do which, his entry will be canceled. If the settler does not wish to remain five years on his tract, he can, at any time after six months, pay for it with cash or land warrants, upon making proof of settlement and cultivation from date of filing affidavit to the time of payment.

(19843—50,000.) o C—012

Timber land embraced in a homestead, or other entry not consummated, may be cleared in order to cultivate the land and improve the premises, but for no other purpose. If, after clearing the land for cultivation, there remains more timber than is required for improvement, there is no objection to the settler disposing of the same. But the question whether the land is being cleared of its timber for legitimate purposes is a question of fact which is liable to be raised at any time. If the timber is cut and removed for any other purpose it will subject the entry to cancellation, and the person who cut it will be liable to civil suit for recovery of the value of said timber, and also to criminal prosecution under Section 2461 of the Revised Statutes.

☞ See note in red ink, which Registers and Receivers will read and EXPLAIN THOROUGHLY to person making application for lands where the affidavit is made before either of them.

THANKS TO Kathy Cagle Baker for the following information
Dear Mr. Adcock,

Below is information from headstones regarding my 2nd great grandparents, Herman Hoffmeister and Julia Ann Munnerlyn Hoffmeister who are buried in the Munnerlyn Cemetery:
H. H. Hoffmeister Born August 11, 1833.....Died January 21, 1898 "Thy Trials Ended, Thy Rest is Won"
Julia A. Wife of H.H.Hoffmeister, March 30 1846.....May 17, 1934 Having served her generation by the will of God, she fell asleep
I want to add in addition to Herman's gravemarker and according to my cousin once removed, Virginia Shelby of Texarkana, their was at one time a brass plaque at the foot of Herman's grave. This plaque gave information on Herman regarding his service in the Confederacy. It is unknown what happened to the plaque. Herman was a native of Hanover Germany, and in 1854 arrived at the Port of New Orleans.

Munnerlyn Cemetery is located on the Rodessa - Ida road. The land (4 acres) was donated by Mrs. W.B. Spearman. It was organized about 1870 and got its name from the Munnerlyn family who moved into the community. In 1877 the Munnerlyn Chapel Methodist Church was oranized, becoming a member of the Arkansas Conference, and in 1902, the church was transferred to the Louisiana Conference.
The church also served as a school house for children in the community for many years. After the Munnerlyn family moved into the community, they became active in the establishment of the church. A new church was built in 1935, replacing the original church, however the church has since been sold and relocated. The vacant lot on which the church sat is located across the road from the Munnerlyn Cemetery.

MRS. TESSIE ILA HALE

Mrs. Tessie Ila Hale, 56, of 839 Dudley Avenue, died apparently of a heart attack late Friday night. She was pronounced dead on arrival at a local hospital at 10:30 p.m.

Mrs. Hale had lived in Texarkana for the past 16 years She was born May 10, 1904. she was a Methodist.

Surviving are her husband, L. Hale; three sisters, Mrs. Lester Westmoreland of Bloomburg, Texas, Mrs. Clyde Porterfield of Hughes Springs, Texas and Mrs. T. Nolan of Monroe, La.; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services will be held at 2:30 p.m. Sunday at the Salem Baptist Church near Bloomburg. Burial will be in the Salem cemetery.

The funeral party will leave the Texarkana Funeral Home at 1:30 p. m. to go to the church.

ruble note is about 5 by 10 inches.

The government announced last month a change in the value of the ruble. First it cut the zero from all units so that, for example, a 100-ruble note became a 10-ruble note. Then it changed its nominal gold value to slightly more than a dollar—$1.11.

However, the new ruble is not recognized in international exchange.

Izvestia ran pictures of the money for Soviet citizens because they will have to start changing their old money for the new on Jan. 1 and must finish the transition in three months.

During that period both old and new rubles will be acceptable. Thousands of exchange places will be established.

PSALM 121

I will lift up mine eyes to the hills, from whence cometh my help.

My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth.

He will not suffer thy foot to be moved; he that keepeth thee will not slumber.

Behold, he that keepeth Israel shall neither slumber nor sleep.

The Lord is thy keeper: the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand.

The sun shall not smite thee by day, nor the moon by night.

The Lord shall preserve thee from all evil: he shall preserve thy soul.

The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore.

The Lord is my shepherd;

I shall not want.

He maketh me to lie down in green pastures:
He leadeth me beside the still waters.

He restoreth my soul; He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.

Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil:
for Thou art with me;
Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me.

Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies:
Thou anointest my head with oil;
my cup runneth over.

Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord forever.

BLOOMBURG, Texas – Sid Westmoreland had a big Thanksgiving dinner Thursday. A big, big Thanksgiving dinner.

Every time he piled on another load of turkey or dressing or pecan pie, someone kidded him about how much he was putting away. But Westmoreland never let it slow him even a forkful.

He was making up for lost time, you see.

For more than six weeks last summer, the Texarkana, Texas, 18-year-old lay in a hospital bed with scarcely a solid bite to eat the whole time. He spent the first month in a coma, after suffering a freak blow to the head in the Dixie Majors State Baseball Tournament in Marshall, Texas.

Doctors were doubtful he would survive even the first night after the accident, or snap out of the coma if he did. But three months ago, early on a hot August afternoon, Westmoreland regained consciousness.

Ever since, he's been surprising doctors and therapists. Every day, his parents say, he seems to improve his speech and motor skills and appetite.

Especially his appetite.

"He's been eating us out of house and home," said his father, S.W. Westmoreland of 1711 Liddell. "It doesn't even matter what it is. You just set it in front of him, and you'd think he never had a thing to eat before in his life."

Sid Westmoreland has put back on most of the 30 pounds he lost in the hospital, but he's still not taking any chances. When he joined his family at their annual Thanksgiving get-together in Bloomburg, he stayed at the dinner table longer than anyone else.

Not that anybody minded, least of all his smiling mother, Linda.

"Just look at him," she said, her eyes a little damp. "You think we don't feel blessed today?"

Although their son can't remember a thing about his accident, the whole ordeal is indelibly etched upon Mr. and Mrs. Westmoreland. They now speak knowledgeably on topics such as intercranial pressure and rotary kinetic beds.

Every member of the family can recount their big games in detail. Like the time when Sid's team was playing for the city Pee Wee League Championship and a kid in right field, who hadn't caught a ball all season long, snared a line drive off Sid's bat to end the game.

Or the time Sid was selected to the city all-star team that went on to win state and play in the Dixie World Series in Chattanooga, Tenn. Or the time he did the same thing on another all-star team four years later.

Last July 27, they were all anticipating a third World Series trip. Sid's Texarkana Dixie Majors All-Star team had lost one game in the state tournament at Marshall, but a win that night against Lufkin would put the Texarkana squad into the finals.

Mr. and Mrs. Westmoreland had little doubt Texarkana would win, what with the finals on the line. They rarely missed one of Sid's games, but since they had been up late returning from the two previous contests, decided to rest up that night and return for the finals.

They were right about the game. Texarkana won it 6-4. But Sid Westmoreland never knew a thing about it.

The game started at 6 p.m. At 6:20, the Westmorelands got a call that Sid had been hurt and they should come down right away. Charging in from left field for a line drive, Sid had collided with a teammate and struck his head on the other player's knee.

"They didn't really know much about Sid's condition then," said Mrs. Westmoreland. "I took his cowboy boots and clothes with us. I figured they might keep him overnight for observation and let us take him home the next day."

"I never worried about the boys' getting hurt playing baseball," she said. "I worried more about (their) getting hurt in a car accident going or coming."

Ironically, if the Westmorelands had been at the game, doctors would have immediately begun delicate surgery to drain the bleeding vessel that was building pressure inside Sid's skull. However, without permission to begin the risky surgery – which can cause irreparable damage to brain tissue – they waited and a blood clot formed to stop the bleeding by the time the Westmorelands arrived.

Still, his condition remained grave. He responded to some commands, but remained comatose. A stress ulcer burned a hole in his stomach in reaction to the shock of the accident, and then an abcess swelled up near his bladder in reaction to the ulcer.

His left eye was swollen tightly shut. Doctors feared his ear would be lost, but pieced it together – "like a jigsaw puzzle," one said – in a two-and-a-half hour surgical session.

Back home in Texarkana, neighbors, friends and even strangers were raising funds to help cover Sid's spiraling medical expenses. In Marshall and Longview and other towns, people also rallied to help.

"There's just no way to acknowledge everyone that helped us. I even had girlfriends mopping my kitchen floor back home," Mrs. Westmoreland said.

Most important of all, she said, everyone was praying for her son.

"We feel like that's the reason he's with us now," she said. "The surgeon told us, 'Don't thank me. Thank God.' "

When Sid first opened his eyes again, he said "Hi" to a nurse, and to a baby in the intensive care unit. A month later, doctors decided he had come far enough along to return home.

But the blow to his head had affected his speech and motor skills drastically. He could not even sit on the edge of a bed without assistance, and communicated with hand signals or a simple "yes" or "no."

But he fought it from the start. He chucked his wheelchair and then his walker as quickly as he could manage. He attacked thrice-weekly therapy sessions with a passion, and promised his doctors he would be ready to hit the woods by the time deer season rolled around.

"He's eager to do everything," his father said. "He never gives up. He'll try anything they'll let him."

And he made good his promise. Thanksgiving morning, he went out on his third deer hunt of the season. The day was bright and crisp by the time he returned to his grandparents' house in Bloomburg.

His speech is still a bit slow, his movement a little shaky as he settles onto a couch in the front room. A good hunter – he killed his first deer at 15 – Westmoreland hasn't brought one down yet this year.

"I did pretty good today. I only fell down once, but that wasn't really my fault. I got tangled up in some briars," he said.

"I really can't remember anything about the game or anything except the last week in the hospital. All I remember about that is taking medicine. Actually, I'm kind of glad I don't remember it," he said.

The family Thanksgiving this year is at Thomas and Glada Westmoreland's. They're Sid's father's parents and have lived in Bloomburg since they were married in 1937. Thomas ran a grocery store for 30 years before selling it and retiring in 1979.

Sid's father, a senior lineman at Southwestern Electric Power Co., joined his son on the hunt. After coming in the house, he shows a visitor his mother's lovely paintings and quiltwork.

S.W. and Linda grew up in Bloomburg, and most of the Westmoreland clan still live in the vicinity. Sid's great-great uncle, W.W. Westmoreland – who at 82 still works his garden with a horsedrawn plow – arrives with his wife from their farm a few miles north of Bloomburg.

Next come Don and Jessie Westmoreland of Bloomburg, with their kids Kevin, Rene and Marion. A little later, Sid's older sister Keenya arrives from Redwater with husband Bobby Hon.

Before long, Glada Westmoreland is having to fend off raiders from her turkey – which Sid's father won in a turkey shoot – and other delights. By 1 p.m. though, all is ready and everyone digs in at two long tables that just barely fit, squeezed diagonally, in the living room.

"You know, when we built this house, people asked me why we built it so big," Glada said. "But I told them, well, when all the kids are home, it's full."

After dinner, the group spreads out about the house again and breaks into varied conversations. Sid reflects on his plans for the future, which before the accident called for him to play baseball at Texarkana Community College for a year or two before enrolling at Texas A&M to study veterinary science.

He says he'll get back on track now, the sooner the better. But will he return to the baseball diamond?

"You betcha," he grins.

Fired Redwater cafeteria supervisor wants apology

By HERSCHEL FINCHER
Of the Gazette Staff

REDWATER, Texas – Former Redwater High School cafeteria supervisor Dorothy Ashlin said she wants a public apology from the Board of Education and her name cleared of any wrongdoing.

She also is "looking into" the possibility that the school board should honor her contract, with full salary, until the contract expires in May of 1983, she said.

She was paid $3.90 an hour as supervisor.

Mrs. Ashlin asked for a hearing in a letter submitted to the board Tuesday night, and the board set the hearing for 7 p.m., Dec. 7.

Mrs. Ashlin was fired last week after parents and school board members said conditions in the cafeteria were "filthy."

She had supervised the Redwater High School cafeteria the past "six or seven" years.

"I am going to ask that my name be cleared," she said. "There's no way in the world I could get another job now."

Meanwhile, the school board hired Redwater resident Dorothy Fagan, who holds a degree in home economics from Stephen F. Austin University, as cafeteria supervisor.

Mrs. Ashlin said, "I can't understand why I have never been reprimanded in all those years if they had found anything wrong."

"And even if they had found anything," she said, "I thought everybody deserved a second chance.".

Mrs. Ashlin had worked with the Redwater school cafeteria programs for about 15 years before her contract was abruptly terminated.

The Redwater Board of Education dismissed Mrs. Ashlin after an executive session of nearly two hours.

Charges that the cafeteria was in an unsatisfactory condition followed comments from parents preparing for a chili supper in the cafeteria.

Ladies who went into the kitchen to prepare food for a Saturday evening supper said they found maggots in ketchup bottles, spoiled food, food containers left open, gnats and evidence of rats in the food handling areas.

The kitchen was closed down Nov. 15 and remained closed until the following Thursday.

By that time an inspector from the State Department of Health's Region 7 headquarters in Tyler gave the cafeteria a thorough inspection and said he saw no reason to keep it closed.

But parents who had been at the chili supper said if the kitchen was clean it was because they had spent most of their time Saturday cleaning it.

Mrs. Ashlin took exception.

"One of my helpers, Mrs. Helen Lewis, had spent the last hour at work Friday cleaning the stoves," she said. "She took the three stoves and grill apart and cleaned them that afternoon."

Mrs. Ashlin said she looked the kitchen over when it got time for them to leave. "It looked clean to me, all except for the ketchup bottles, which we left out to wash."

She said she and her two helpers had to rewash the bowls used at the chili supper when they came in Monday because the ladies didn't know how to properly sterilize them.

"We even had to sterilize the trays and the silverware they had used," Mrs. Ashlin said.

Following the weekend supper, Mrs. Ashlin said everything else in the kitchen was "exactly as we had left it, except that the stove burners had been left dirty by the women at the chili supper."

Charges that the kichen was "filthy" left Mrs. Ashlin puzzled. And she said she couldn't understand "why they didn't ask me to talk or give me an opportunity to defend myself" at the board meeting.

Only board members Charles Armstrong and Roy Johnson voted against Mrs. Ashlin's dismissal, with board member Carl Teel abstaining.

"I feel like I've been railroaded," Mrs. Ashlin said. "I am hurt, and my feelings and my faith in people have been hurt."

Mrs. Ashlin said she was upset further because a district school lunch supervisor from the Texas Education Agency offices in Tyler had met with her on Nov. 16 for about three hours and had told Mrs. Ashlin she was "very well pleased with the things I find in the kitchen."

Mrs. Ashlin has the report from Pauline Mostiller, in which more help for the cafeteria staff was advocated.

"Mrs. Mostiller said each of us was doing 19 man-hours of work a day when we should be doing only 13," Mrs. Ashlin said.

She said Mrs. Mostiller informed her she was going to make a recommendation to the school board and the state agency to get some more help in the cafeteria.

Does Mrs. Ashlin want her job back after being fired?

"I wouldn't take that job back under any circumstances," she said.

Shooting incident leads to arrest

A shooting incident on Interstate 30 early Thursday morning resulted in the arrest of a Florida man for driving while intoxicated, carrying a prohibited weapon and impersonating a police officer.

Reed D. France, 32, of Casselberry, Fla., was arrested by a Miller County Sheriff's deputy and was being held Thursday in the Miller County Jail.

According to police reports, the suspect was traveling eastbound on I-30 when he passed a vehicle driven by Jesse Smith of Clayton, Indiana.

The suspect put on his blinker as though to pull off the road, but instead he pulled back into the lane of traffic. As a result, the right front tire of Smith's vehicle hit the left side of the suspect's vehicle.

Further down the highway the suspect crossed the interstate, started westbound and then stopped his vehicle and fired one shot from a gun at Smith, police reports said.

Appendage might be prank

Texarkana, Ark., police officers didn't know whether it was a practical joke or whether it was serious when a man said he saw an arm sticking out of the trunk of a brown Cougar vehicle Thursday night.

The man told police he saw an arm sticking out of the trunk of a vehicle as it was leaving a fast food restaurant on State Line Avenue. He said he told the passenger in the vehicle that the person in the trunk might suffocate.

The passenger and driver of the vehicle got out of the car, pushed the arm back in the trunk and took off at a high rate of speed, he told police.

Police were trying to unravel the mystery Thursday night. Officers spoke to the parents of a teenager who had taken the car for the evening and learned he and some friends were headed for a drive-in movie. It was apparently some pranksters, a police officer said.

HMB Construction gets contract

HMB Construction Co. of Texarkana has been awarded a contract for more than $4 million in repairs and resurfacing to be done on Bowie County highways.

HMB submitted a low bid of $4,089,944 to the State Department of Highways and Public Transportation.

Atlanta man gets just desserts for Thanksgiving

By HERSCHEL FINCHER
Of the Gazette Staff

LINDEN, Texas – A 22-year-old Atlanta, Texas, prisoner had two things to be thankful for Thursday: He rescued two men and got out of jail.

Fletcher Peters was rewarded Thursday for coming to the rescue of a deputy sheriff being choked by prisoners escaping from the Cass County Jail.

Cass County Sheriff Bill Rankin released Peters on his own recognizance and sent him home to have a late Thanksgiving dinner with his family.

Rankin said Peters managed to fight off two teen-aged prisoners who attacked and choked Jailer James Eaves and a jail trusty during the lunch hour Thursday before making their escape.

Peters, who had served out a $53 fine on a traffic violation, was in jail awaiting a burglary probation hearing.

The escapees, Glenn A. Bowling, 18, Atlanta, and James D. Neal, 19, of Indiana, were the subjects of a massive manhunt in the Linden area throughout much of the afternoon.

They were recaptured about 3 p.m. by Cass County Deputy Sheriff Gary Yates and Texas Department of Public Safety Trooper Larry Aycock in a wooded area just north of the Linden Elementary School.

Both were charged with escape, and bond was denied by Justice of the Peace Ed Farmer.

Bowling was facing a seven-year sentence in the Texas Department of Corrections after pleading guilty on Nov. 14 in 5th District Court to six counts of burglary of a habitation.

He had been charged in connection with a series of burlaries in the Atlanta area.

Neal was awaiting action on a charge of armed robbery in connection with the Queen City E-Z Mart grocery store holdup on Nov. 14.

Bowling also is wanted in Camp County for criminal mischief, Criminal District Attorney Neal Birmingham said, and Neal is wanted in Indiana for robbery. Neal was being held under $20,000 bond.

Rankin said Bowling and Neal grabbed Eaves and the trusty, Troy Greene, from behind and got the jail keys as noon meal trays were collected.

Another prisoner, Christopher Ivory, responded to Peter's actions by attempting to get Neal off the trusty, Rankin said.

Despite the action by Peters and Ivory, Bowling and Neal managed to lock Eaves and Greene into one of the third-floor cells and escape down a stairway, Rankin said.

He said they then went into a garage area where they apparently changed clothes, then made their way through an outdoor recreation area to escape over a fence.

Rankin said Peter's quick action may have saved the jailer from serious injury.

Linda Westmoreland and her son, Sid, make careful choices at their family's Thanksgiving dinner table. They are followed by Sid's brother-in-law, Bobby Hon.

'You betcha' he's thankful

By ROBERT KERR
Of the Gazette Staff

BLOOMBURG, Texas – Sid Westmoreland had a big Thanksgiving dinner Thursday. A big, big Thanksgiving dinner.

Every time he piled on another load of turkey or dressing or pecan pie, someone kidded him about how much he was putting away. But Westmoreland never let it slow him even a forkful.

He was making up for lost time, you see.

For more than six weeks last summer, the Texarkana, Texas, 18-year-old lay in a hospital bed with scarcely a solid bite to eat the whole time. He spent the first month in a coma, after suffering a freak blow to the head in the Dixie Majors State Baseball Tournament in Marshall, Texas.

Doctors were doubtful he would survive even the first night after the accident, or snap out of the coma if he did. But three months ago, early on a hot August afternoon, Westmoreland regained consciousness.

Ever since, he's been surprising doctors and therapists. Every day, his parents say, he seems to improve his speech and motor skills and appetite.

Especially his appetite.

"He's been eating us out of house and home," said his father, S.W. Westmoreland of 1711 Liddell. "It doesn't even matter what it is. You just set it in front of him, and you'd think he never had a thing to eat before in his life."

Sid Westmoreland has put back on most of the 30 pounds he lost in the hospital, but he's still not taking any chances. When he joined his family at their annual Thanksgiving get-together in Bloomburg, he stayed at the dinner table longer than anyone else.

Not that anybody minded, least of all his smiling mother, Linda.

"Just look at him," she said, her eyes a little damp. "You think we don't feel blessed today?"

Although their son can't remember a thing about his accident, the whole ordeal is indelibly etched upon Mr. and Mrs. Westmoreland. They now speak knowledgeably on topics such as intercranial pressure and rotary kinetic beds.

Things were hardly like that before. Before, their lives had revolved around kid baseball. Sid started playing the game around 2 years of age, he says, "as soon as I was big enough to pick up a bat and stand at the plate."

His brother Jason, 12, is in his final year of Little League competition, while Todd, 9, will begin organized play this summer. Their father has coached many of their teams.

Every member of the family can recount their big games in detail. Like the time when Sid's team was playing for the city Pee Wee League Championship and a kid in right field, who hadn't caught a ball all season long, snared a line drive off Sid's bat to end the game.

Or the time Sid was selected to the city all-star team that went on to win state and play in the Dixie World Series in Chattanooga, Tenn. Or the time he did the same thing on another all-star team four years later.

Last July 27, they were all anticipating a third World Series trip. Sid's Texarkana Dixie Majors All-Star team had lost one game in the state tournament at Marshall, but a win that night against Lufkin would put the Texarkana squad into the finals.

Mr. and Mrs. Westmoreland had little doubt Texarkana would win, what with the finals on the line. They rarely missed one of Sid's games, but since they had been up late returning from the two previous contests, decided to rest up that night and return for the finals.

They were right about the game. Texarkana won it 6-4. But Sid Westmoreland never knew a thing about it.

The game started at 6 p.m. At 6:20, the Westmorelands got a call that Sid had been hurt and they should come down right away. Charging in from left field for a line drive, Sid had collided with a teammate and struck his head on the other player's knee.

"They didn't really know much about Sid's condition then," said Mrs. Westmoreland. "I took his cowboy boots and clothes with us. I figured they might keep him overnight for observation and let us take him home the next day."

"I never worried about the boys' getting hurt playing baseball," she said. "I worried more about (their) getting hurt in a car accident going or coming."

When they arrived, Sid had been transferred from the Marshall hospital to the larger Longview Regional Medical Center. When they finally got to talk to their son's doctor, his prognosis stunned them.

"The first thing he said to us was they didn't expect Sid to make it through that night," Mrs. Westmoreland said, still shuddering at the memory. "You just cannot imagine what that did to us."

The force of the blow caused a concussion, cracking the youth's skull and rupturing a blood vessel. In addition, his ear had been almost completely severed.

Reagan may call for taxing unemployed, lowering minimum wage

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. – President Reagan is considering taxing jobless benefits "to make it less attractive" to stay unemployed and may call for a reduction in the minimum wage for youths as well, a White House spokesman said Thursday.

Those proposals are in a package of eight options developed for Reagan by his Cabinet Council on Economic Affairs to deal with chronic unemployment, said spokesman Larry Speakes. The jobless rate hit 10.4 percent last month, with more than 11.5 million out of work.

Speakes said Reagan has received the option paper, but has yet to discuss the ideas with his advisers.

He said the proposals will not be ready for Congress on Monday. Instead, they will be carried over to early next year, he said.

Reagan and his wife, Nancy, were hosts for a Thanksgiving dinner at their mountaintop ranch for the president's daughter, Maureen, and her husband Dennis Revell, and Reagan's older brother Neil and his wife, Bess. The weather was sunny and warm, and the Reagans went horseback riding on the trails lacing their 688-acre spread.

The unemployment options are separate from economic stimulus measures Reagan will unveil next week. Those are likely to include a six-month acceleration in next year's tax cut, so it would take effect in January, even though GOP leaders told Reagan he doesn't have the votes to do that in the face of burgeoning federal deficits.

Reagan has said the administration wants Congress to approve a 5-cent per gallon increase in the federal gasoline tax, now 4 cents, to finance rebuilding highways, bridges and mass transit systems.

Unemployment insurance benefits currently are exempt from taxation, unless the recipients' annual family income is $18,000 or more. The threshold is $12,000 for a single person. Those ceilings were even higher until they were lowered by the $100 billion tax increase which Reagan pushed through Congress earlier this year.

The new proposal calls for taxing all benefits.

Speakes said the rationale for that is "to make it less attractive" to

Gasoline tax would hit Arkansans especially hard

LITTLE ROCK (AP) – A proposed increase in the federal gasoline tax could hit Arkansans particularly hard because they traditionally use more gasoline than residents of other states.

The federal Transportation Department says the average U.S. motorist would pay about $30 more a year in taxes under President Reagan's proposed increase. But the Arkansas figure would be $36.62 a year in additional taxes, according to a 1977 study showing the average Arkansan used 76.3 gallons of gasoline a month.

Reagan said Tuesday he wanted the motor fuel tax raised by 5 cents a gallon. On Wednesday, though, White House spokesmen said the proposed increase actually would be 4 cents. Under the plan, the federal gasoline tax would rise to 8 cents a gallon. The spokesman said taxes on heavy trucks and tires would provide the extra cent.

Saying the proposal would stimulate the economy, Rep. John Paul Hammerschmidt, R-Ark., said he strongly supported it. "We need it for bridges and highway safety," Hammerschmidt said.

See related story on Page 9A.

Arkansas' other congressmen, meanwhile, were awaiting more information before they commented.

According to Transportation Department officials, the tax revenues would be distributed on a matching-funds basis. Each state would pay 10 percent of the cost of interstate highway projects and 25 percent to 40 percent on other projects.

The tax would provide Arkansas with about $50 million a year in badly needed highway revenues, said James Branyan of Camden, the chairman of Arkansas' Highway Commission.

Branyan said, however, that the federal tax would make it extremely difficult to raise the state gasoline

Reconstructing Augustus Hoffmeister's War Record

Ricardo Suárez-Gärtner, May 2, 2001

- From "Rooster and Record of Iowa Soldiers in the War of the Rebellion," vol. 1, Published under the direction of Brig. Gen. Wm. H. Thrift, Adjutant General, 1908.

The Eight Regiment of Iowa Infantry was organized in compliance with the proclamation of the President [Lincoln], dated July 23, 1861... Davenport was designated as the place of rendezvous for the companies composing the regiment, and they were mustered into the service... between... August 31 and September, 1861. [At Davenport] the time for... preparation was exceedingly limited, and being without arms or uniforms, and supplied with only the most crude camp equipage, they were in a raw and unprepared condition when, on the night of September 24, 1861, orders were received to... embark early the next morning for St. Louis. At Keokuk, arms of poor quality, but the best the government was at that time able to procure for its fast increasing army, were issued... [In St. Louis, they] marched to Benton Barracks, where troops were being rapidly concentrated and instructed and equipped as fast as possible...

On October 15th the regiment left St. Louis, on board flat cars, and proceeded to Syracuse, Mo. The regiment was fortunate in having for its first commander a capable and thoroughly trained soldier of the regular army, Col. Frederick Steele [promoted to Brig. Gen. Feb. 1, 1862], who insisted on good discipline... On the 21st of October, the regiment began the march to Springfield, Mo., with Lt. Col. Geddes [promoted to Col. Feb. 7, 1862] in command, Col. Steele having been assigned to the command of a brigade. On this march the men suffered greatly, not having become inured to the hardships of a soldier's life... The regiment remained at Springfield until November 4th, when it marched to Sedalia, Mo., again enduring great hardship from exposure. This winter campaign in Missouri cost the regiment many valuable lives, while many more were permanently disabled and subsequently discharged. It is a well known fact that, in the first year of the war, more deaths and disabilities resulted from sickness than from conflict with the enemy upon the battlefield.

March 11, 1862, the regiment was ordered to St. Louis, and from there it was conveyed by boat to Pittsburg Landing, Tenn. On its way up the Tennessee river the boat was fired into by rebels concealed in the woods, and two men were killed and three were wounded. At Pittsburg Landing the regiment went into camp and was assigned to the 3rd Brigade of the 2nd Division, Army of the Tennessee. The brigade was under command of Col. T.W. Sweeny, and the division was commanded by Brig. Gen. W.H.L. Wallace. In this great battle, the 8th Iowa Infantry rendered... conspicuous and important service , and suffered... great loss. From the official report of its commanding officer [Col J.L. Geddes]:

About 8 o'clock on the morning of the 6th [April, 1862], I ordered the regiment under arms, and formed line of battle in front of my encampment, awaiting orders to proceed to the front. At this time, the firing on our advanced line had become general, and it appeared to me evident that we were being attacked in force by the rebel general... I was ordered by Col. Sweeny, brigade commander, to proceed to the front [and] to take position on the left of the brigade to which I was attached, for the purpose of protecting a battery immediately in front. Here the regiment remained for about an hour, exposed to a severe fire from artillery,... killing and wounding several of my men. About 11 a.m., I was ordered... to leave my position, and to take ground to my left and front. This change of position brought my regiment on the extreme right of Gen. Prentiss' division, and left of Gen. Smith's, the latter being the division to which my regiment belonged. I was thus entirely detached from my brigade, nor did I receive any order from my brigade or division commander during the remainder of that day. On arriving at the point I was ordered to defend I formed my regiment in line of battle, with my center resting on a road leading from Corinth to Pittsburg Landing, and at right angles with my line. Here I immediately engaged a battalion of the enemy, and after a severe conflict of nearly an hour's duration, in which I lost many of my men, the enemy were driven back with heavy loss... About 1 p.m. Gen. Prentiss placed a battery in position immediately in front of my regiment, with instructions to defend it to the last. The precision of its fire, which was directed by the General in person, made great havoc in the advancing columns of the enemy. It therefore became an object of great importance to gain possession of the battery. To this end they concentrated and hurled column after column on my position, charging most gallantly to the very muzzles of the guns. Here a struggle commenced for the retention and possession of the battery, of a terrific character, their concentrated and well directed fire decimated my ranks in a fearful manner. In this desperate struggle my regiment lost 100 men in killed and wounded.

The conspicuous gallantry and coolness of my company commanders,... by reserving the fire of their respective companies until the proper time for its delivery with effect, and the determined courage of my men, saved the battery from capture, and I had the satisfaction of sending the guns in safety to the rear. In this attack I was wounded in the leg and Maj. Andrews severely in the head... About 3 p.m. all direct communications with the river ceased, and it became evident to me that the enemy were driving the right and left flanks of our army, and were rapidly closing behind us. At this time, I could have retreated, and most probably would have saved my command from being captured, had I, at this time, been ordered back, but I received no such order, and I considered it my duty to hold the position I was assigned to defend at all hazards. General Prentiss' division having been thrown back from the original line, I changed front by my left flank, conforming to his movement, and at right angles with my former base, which was immediately occupied and retained for some time by the 14th Iowa, Col. Shaw. In this position, I ordered my regiment to charge a battalion of the enemy (I think 4th Mississippi), which was done in good order, completely routing them. We were now attacked on three sides by the rebel force, which was closing fast around us. The shells from our gunboats, in their transit, severing the limbs of trees, hurled them on my ranks... --with a loss of near 200 in killed and wounded-- I ordered my regiment to retire. On retiring about 300 yards, I found a division of the rebels, under Gen. Polk, thrown across my line of retreat. I perceived that further resistance was useless, as we were now completely surrounded. Myself and the major portion of my command, were captured at 6 p.m. of that day, and I claim the honor for my regiment of being the last to leave the advanced line of our army, on the battlefield of Shiloh, on Sunday, April 6, 1862.

The morning reports, published officially, show that the 3rd Brigade of the 2nd Division had 2,131 present for duty on the morning of April 6th, and the official reports of casualties in the battle show that the brigade suffered a loss of 1,247, or about 60% of the entire number engaged. Of this number, the 8th Iowa lost 493... The loss of the 8th Iowa Infantry, which fought detached from its brigade, exceeded 80% of its number engaged in killed, wounded and captured... To these troops, then acting under the orders of Gen. Prentiss, is due the credit of delaying the advance of the rebel forces in their front long enough to enable the scattered and disintegrated Union forces in their rear to rally and form the line of last resistance, as night was fast coming on, on that hard fought first day's battle at Shiloh.

Almost the entire number of the 8th. Iowa Infantry which had gone into action on that Sunday morning, and had escaped being killed, were captured, and entered upon a long and weary term of imprisonment, during which many of them died. Most of those who were wounded before the enemy got in the rear of the regiment had been sent to the field hospitals, but those who were wounded later, and were considered by the enemy able to be moved, were compelled to go along with the prisoners, and many of them died in prison. The few who succeeded in eluding the enemy... were afterwards placed in an organization called the "Union Brigade," in which they remained until the captured officers and men were exchanged, when the brigade was disbanded and they rejoined the regiment. A sketch of the operations of the Union Brigade will be found in its appropriate place in this work... The prisoners were paroled October 18th, and exchanged November 10, 1862.

During the winter of 1862-63, the regiment was reorganized at St. Louis and was sent... to Rolla, Mo., where it spent the remainder of the winter. In the spring it returned to St. Louis and was sent to Vicksburg, where it arrived about April 1st and was assigned to the 3rd Brigade of the 3rd Division, 15th Army Corps, commanded by Gen. W.T. Sherman. Early in May it participated in that brilliant series of movements around Vicksburg ending in the assault upon Jackson, and then marched to Vicksburg and became part of the investing force up to the 22nd of June. During this time it participated in the siege operations... and took part in the assault on the rebel works on the 22nd of May. June 22nd it became part of the force, under... Gen Sherman, constituting a line... to guard against a threatened attack of the rebel Gen. Johnston's army,... then defending the formidable forts and earthworks around Vicksburg. The regiment remained on this duty until the surrender of the rebel stronghold on July 4th. Immediately [thereafter] the regiment was ordered, with other troops under Sherman, to go in pursuit of Johnston, who was retreating towards Jackson. They participated in the operations which led to the short siege and subsequent evacuation of that place on July 17th, 1863. It then became part of a force under Gen. Steele which drove the enemy out of Brandon. Miss.,

and captured that place. At the conclusion of Col. Geddes' official report of the operations of this regiment during the Vicksburg campaign, he says:

> From the 2nd of May to the 25th of July, we marched without tents or transportation, over 300 miles, engaged the enemy at Vicksburg, twice at Jackson, and at Brandon, and, although during the operations of this ever memorable campaign, both officers and men of the regiment suffered much exposure and hardship of a very trying character, they endured all without a murmur, and with a fortitude which elicited on several occasions the unreserved commendations of the commanding general.

The 8th Iowa was [then] stationed [to guard the railroad] at Pocahontas, Tenn., from the last of October, 1863, to the first of January 1864, on which date three-fourths of the men re-enlisted as veterans... The following month Gen. Sherman organized the famous Meridian expedition, which... inflicted great damage upon the enemy in the destruction of railroads and immense quantities of supplies... stored in Meridian. The 8th Iowa Infantry participated in this remarkable expedition, marched over 300 miles and bivouacked in the open air, living upon such provisions as could be gathered from the country through which they marched. Returning to Vicksburg, the re-enlisted veterans were sent to their homes in Iowa on furlough, while the non-veterans participated in the ill-fated Red River expedition. The veterans returned to Memphis, Tenn., at the close of their 30 days' furlough, and upon their arrival [they] were assigned to provost guard duty under Lt. Col. W.B. Bell, Col. Geddes being at the same time appointed Provost Marshall of the District of West Tennessee... It was while performing this duty that the regiment had a severe engagement with the rebel Gen. Forrest's cavalry which made a daring raid into the city of Memphis on the 21st day of August, 1864... In this engagement the regiment's loss was 43, which, considering... that only a small portion of the regiment was engaged, was very heavy. Lt. Col. Bell moved promptly with the few men he found to be immediately available, and rendered a most important service in... moving to the attack without waiting to rally his entire regiment.

The regiment remained in Memphis until January, 1865, when it was ordered to New Orleans, where it was encamped for some time on the old battlefield eight miles below the city. It next took passage for Mobile and, shortly after its arrival there, joined General Canby's army. The regiment was now part of the 3rd Brigade, 3rd Division of the 16th Army Corps, and its brigade was under the command of... Col. James L. Geddes, while the regiment was commanded by Lt. Col. W.B. Bell. ... [I]n the siege operations [of Spanish Port], lasting from March 27th until April 8, 1865, when the assault was made and the port captured, the regiment bore a most conspicuous part and suffered heavy loss...

The fighting days of this gallant regiment were now practically ended. The non-veterans (those who had not re-enlisted) had been mustered out of the service at the expiration of their original three years' term, and the regiment was now designated as the "Eight Iowa Veteran Infantry Volunteers."... Their remainder of its service was in doing garrison and guard duty at different points in the South. From Mobile it was sent to Montgomery, Alabama, the place in which some of its members had been confined in prison after the battle of Shiloh. From Montgomery it was sent to Tuscaloosa and, during the winter of 1866, it was stationed at Selma, another point which many of the survivors had good reason to remember, on account of their experience in prison there. On the 20th of April, 1866, the regiment was mustered out of the service at Selma, Alabama, after serving a little over four years and eight months.

- On sick leave from Sept. 1st to Oct 11th, 1863. The following quote is from a medical certificate on file: "I certify that I have carefully examined A.W. Hoffmeister, Surgeon of the 8th Reg't Iowa Vol. Infty, and find him incapable of performing the duties of his position, because of debility and an extreme nervous condition of the system, the result of obstinate intermittent fever and diarrhea. He was not able to sleep two (2) hours in the twenty four (24) during the past two (2) weeks. I further declare that a change of climate is necessary for the restoration of his health , a[nd] to prevent permanent disability and entire loss to the service. Dated at Camp Bear Creek, Miss., Aug 23, 1863, H.?. Gill, Surg. 95 O.V. Infty. " He was honorably discharged in Chattanooga, Tenn. on August 27, 1864, upon tender of his resignation

- Requested disability pension on Sept. 6, 1879. "On or about the 4th of April, 1862, he contracted dysentery; that in consequence of the battle of Shiloh and Pittsburg-Landing, Ap. 5 & 6th, 1862 and the subsequent march to Corinth (his surgeon being sick and unable to perform duty and finely [sic.] on leave of absence) he was so overworked and subject to exposure and without proper treatment, that the dysentery resulted in permanent Haemorrhoids. These piles resulted in 1867 in a fistula in ano... and in 1877 into a second one near the... coccyx. He was not treated in hospitals but received leave of absence Dec. 14th, 1862 & Aug. 20th, 1864 and finely [sic.] was discharged for Disability... He is now half disabled from obtaining subsistence from manual labor by reason of his injuries above described, received in the service of the United States..."

- He was "6' 1½" tall, dark complexion, brown hair, gray eyes."

- "In the service he also contracted rheumatism and in later years his hearth was affected therefrom. The rheumatism affected his legs, causing him great pain in walking. It also affected his left elbow and wrist." [Despite this condition he was active as physician and surgeon of the Ft. Madison Penitentiary from 1866 until about 1895].

- "In regard for the claim for pension of A. W. Hoffmeister, MD, late surgeon 8th Iowa Infantry, I have to say that when the regiment left Duck Port, La. May 2nd, 1863, on the march to Jackson Miss., Surgeon Hoffmeister was in charge of the Medical dept. of the command, and had no assistant, until the command arrived in rear of Vicksburg; on the march to Jackson, the command having no tents or shelter, was exposed to the rain several days, and camped at night on the wet ground, and practically we had no shelter until after the fall of Vicksburg. I can distinctly remember hearing Surgeon Hoffmeister complain of Rheumatism about this time, and frequently later, and about June or July 1864 he went... on leave of absence, and not long after his return in the latter part of Aug. 1864 he was Discharged. The exact nature of the disability that caused him to leave the Service I can not call to mind, but have the impression that it was Rheumatism and something else that he considered serious...Late Lt. Col. W.B. Bell, 8th Iowa Infantry" (Dated March 22, 1892).
